Connecting to STGRSD BYOD

This is the wi-fi network that is meant to be used for your personal devices. Examples of this include phones, personal laptops, or any other various wi-fi connected devices you may possess. Below are the instructions on how to connect on various different types of personal devices: